Intonation

1. O how good in a sa-cra-men-tal na-tion for all to live in broth-er-ly re-la-tion, fine as oil to the head ad-hered, fine run-ning down the span of Aar-on's beard, right down the tem-ples, round a-bout the lobes, on the sash of the priest-ly robes,

2. soft as rain that our coun-try-side de-vo-urs, fair as the spring-time urg-ing on the show-ers, near-ly drenched in a Her-mon dew, up on the heights of Zi-on routed through, there where the Lord such roy-al-ty con-fers, up where life ev-er-fast-ing stirs.
